the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995. The public sector has become a major employer in the UK, and its growth has been a major factor in the overall growth of the economy.

The public sector has also become a major employer of women. In 1980, women made up 40% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 50%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of women in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people with disabilities. In 1980, people with disabilities made up 10% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 20%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people with disabilities in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from ethnic minorities. In 1980, people from ethnic minorities made up 5% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 15%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from ethnic minorities in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower social classes. In 1980, people from the lower social classes made up 30% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 40%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower social classes in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower income groups. In 1980, people from the lower income groups made up 20% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 30%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower income groups in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower education levels. In 1980, people from the lower education levels made up 10% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 20%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower education levels in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower health status. In 1980, people from the lower health status made up 5% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 15%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower health status in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower life expectancy. In 1980, people from the lower life expectancy made up 5% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 15%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower life expectancy in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower quality of life. In 1980, people from the lower quality of life made up 5% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 15%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower quality of life in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower level of social capital. In 1980, people from the lower level of social capital made up 5% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 15%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower level of social capital in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower level of civic engagement. The public sector has also become a major employer of people from the lower level of political participation. In 1980, people from the lower level of political participation made up 5% of the public sector workforce, and by 1995, this had increased to 15%. This increase has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of the public sector, the increasing participation of people from the lower level of political participation in the workforce, and the increasing demand for public services.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1 million (Office for National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 6.5 million by 2011, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 3.5 million (Office for National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of older people, and a number of initiatives have been developed to address this need. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

FOREWORD

The Panther, our guiding motif, is a symbol of Griffith High School. It has been, whether consciously or unconsciously, like a guiding star pointing toward new horizons. As you turn through the pages of memories, leaf by leaf, at present or in the future, may the symbol of the Panther carry a thrill and a renewed feeling of loyalty to Griffith High School and the various activities in which you participated.

SCHOOL BOARD

Standing: Clarence Davis, Frank Van Slyke.
Seated: William Rist, Arthur Govert, Howard Nasby.

We of Griffith High School are greatly indebted to our schoolboard, without whose time, interest and tireless work Griffith High School could not have been made what it is today, a fine, upstanding school. The success of any school depends upon the planning and organization that goes on behind the scenes. We rarely show our appreciation, but now we can be thankful indeed for what these men have done to provide a better school for the students and the community.

"FORWARD EVER: BACKWARD NEVER"

Our senior motto, is one of which we can all be proud; one which should give us inspiration and satisfaction, thus sustaining each of us as we follow our individual paths of life.

For twelve years we have looked forward to being seniors, an important year of all our lives. As we leave the portals of our dear G.H.S. there is sadness in our hearts, and yet, as the gate closes behind us, we are looking "Forward Ever; Backward Never".

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Lend an ear and hear what's said;
The Prophecy of '53 will soon be read.

LUKACS is replacing the old Satchel Paige,
While LAMPRECHT has finally been locked in a cage.

MARLENE'S in ballet, dancing on her toes;
MORETTON is making love to the queen of the Schmoos.

KINSEY has invented a hot ice cream;
MASON now analyzes ORBAN'S dreams.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

TENNANT is announcing VANZO'S football exploits;
BATEY and MANIGRASSO are champs at pitching quoits.

IRISH is our first woman president;
O'ROURKE has made up a new pastel cement.

MOCK is a pilot with lots of fame;
TULEY'S in Africa hunting big game.

SPITZ is now teaching drivers' training;
"WAYNE THE BRAIN" is trying to keep it from raining.

NEEDLES is a janitor at Carnegie Hall,
The new choir leader is MARIE BALL.

WIGLEY and STOCKWILL are girl undertakers;
RAAB and YORK have become bakers.

KUSSMAUL is a cop, pounding the beat;
JURICK has a fruit stand on Maxwell Street.

SEATON and PORTER are now married;
TUCKER got shot; when he should have go'ed, he tarried.

MORRIS writes the laws for the city and state;
TAYLOR'S on the corner; she was stood-up on a date.

ORLICH is a hermit and lives in a cave;
COOK owns a yacht, and SLANEY is his slave.

CLAUSON'S a skater in the Roller Derby;
GRISCOM'S in the Navy, treating cases of scurvy.

George Roache has handed his pen to BILL MYERS;
PARKER and O'TOOLE are textile buyers.

BAKKEN'S at St. Catherine's; she's finally a nurse;
And BOLTZ is hotrodding around in his hearse.

RICHARD BECK
Football & Baseball

STEVE STANCZAK
Asst. Football

Our fine athletic record is one of which each of us may well be proud. Our program is broad -- 75% of our male school population participates in the intramural basketball program.

Mr. Sanders, Mr. Beck, and Mrs. Stanczak put long hours and much effort into making our athletic program one of the finest in the Calumet area. Through the untiring efforts of this fine staff our boys are learning rigidity of self discipline, good sportsmanship, health habits, and the development of lasting values in cooperation, respect and loyalty.

CHEERLEADERS

These vivacious girls, dressed in the traditional black and gold colors of our school, are always found cheering the team on to victory. Their enthusiasm, which spreads throughout the crowd, has been a great contributing factor to the success of our team.

Left to right: Betty Rogers, Susan Berg, Beverly Black, and Ann Seitzinger.

The Jr. Varsity cheerleaders lead all yells for the "B" team. Their interest reflects the ardent zeal of the whole student body of G.H.S. for basketball.

FOOTBALL

The Crown Point game proved to be a highlight in the G.H.S. schedule. The Panthers, according to predictions, were the underdogs, but determination and hard fighting proved too much for the Crown Point Bulldogs. When the gun sounded at the end of the game, the Panthers had achieved a 20-7 victory.

BASKETBALL ACTION

The Panther netmen had a traditionally fine season this year. Many times they had the opportunity to taste the sweetness of victory. The qualities of sportmanship can be best summarized by using a quotation from the pages of a near-by school paper: "Griffith is a good example of a student-backed team. The auditorium is packed every game, and the students really cheer."

JUNIOR VARSITY

From this squad of eager boys will come the future varsity team, a significance within itself. This team learns the basic fundamentals of basketball, which builds the foundation for a successful player. It is from this group that many VARSITY STARS are born.

MAJORETTES

Hats Off to: Phyllis Francis, Donna Spitz, Sharon Spitz, and Judy Downey for the fine work done in their field of activity. Probably no other group of students receive less praise and appreciation than these people. Have you ever thought how the marching band would lack glamour and color without our own G.H.S. majorettes?

School Life

HONORED

MR. ELDON READY

Griffith High School is fortunate indeed to have such an able principal. He is a past President of the Lake County Principal's Association, and was elected to the Presidency of the North Central District State Teachers' Association for the year of 1953-'54.

As one student so aptly put into words: "In him is found the character which parents and students desire in a leader. His untiring effort to make G. H. S. a better school is his ultimate goal. The stamp of his fine character upon our lives will ever remain a part of each of us."
